

SolarWinds-style supply-chain compromise: a single compromised vendor update can deliver malicious code to many organisations — motivates adaptive, network-wide defensive strategies (e.g., dynamic decoy placement).